

Blended success with pet food

Our customer wanted to bring in a specialist product and blend into their mainstream production at a rate of up to 10%. The criteria we were given enabled us to come up with a system where supersacks of this ingredient were brought into the process in each of 7 locations in North America. Gough then visited each site and provided proposals incorporating a variety of Gough's core products. On each site was installed a supersack unloading station, vibratory conveying and screening systems feeding into large intermediate storage bins. From the bins material was fed out at an accurate rate and via a series of Gough conveying/elevating feeding and screening equipment. A final blend specification of plus or minus 0.25% was achieved.

From conception to commissioning Gough provided project management, manufacture, installation and commissioning of this prestigious multi-site installation in an amazing 10 weeks.
